

Per standards set by the NMA Board of Directors, member newspapers are published at least one time per week and carry a minimum of 70 percent paid circulation. NMA fosters strength and unity in the industry through the "Group Membership" provision, stating that two or more qualifying newspapers under common ownership are required to join as a group. Daily newspaper membership dues are based on daily circulation which may be verified by a third-party source and the NMA cost per copy. Weekly newspaper dues are at a fixed rate determined annually by the NMA Board.
